

Production Manufacturing

Location: Windsor, California

About Micro-Vu

Micro-Vu is an automation company specializing in 3D measuring and robotics. Micro-Vu engineers use technologies such as 3D software, image processing, precision mechanics and motion control, lasers, tactile probes, 3D sensors, machine learning and robotics to develop state-of-the-art solutions.

Micro-Vu designs and manufactures in a highly-automated factory at its campus in Windsor, California near the Russian River. Micro-Vu was established in 1959 and is privately-held. Those who work at Micro-Vu must be highly-motivated, capable and passionate about bringing the best possible products and technologies to the market.

Job Summary

Our company is currently seeking a people to work in production manufacturing to carry out various tasks in our busy engineering-oriented manufacturing facility. The ideal candidate will have some mechanical or electronic experience, excellent communication skills and a high degree of mechanical aptitude. The successful applicant will be responsible for operating production line equipment, finishing products and reporting any issues with equipment to engineering and other disciplines.

Pay rate and future compensation will depend on several factors including education, capabilities, skill set and especially contribution to the success of the company.